

Marek Sumiła: Development of Technical Assets' Standards for the CPK Railway Component

The article presents the results of work carried out on the development of harmonised railway standards in the field of telecommunication technology for the Centralny Port Komunikacyjny company (CPK). In the following parts of the article the meaning of the term telecommunication is explained, reference is made to the existing standards, the essential areas of application and the special features taken into account during the development of the standards are discussed.

Keywords: technical assets, standards, CPK